

Johanna Pak Bio

Johanna Pak, a native of Hong Kong, has made Canada her home for many years. Baptized as a Roman Catholic, she was involved in many denominations before finding a home in the Anglican Church.

Johanna recently completed a Master of Divinity degree at Trinity College at the University of Toronto, and has served different churches as an intern, including St.-Stephen-in-the-Fields, the Cathedral Church of St. James, Church of the Nativity, and St. Jude's, Wexford. She was a parishioner at St Bartholomew's, Regent Park, where she was a dedicated member of the Servers' Guild and was involved in several community support and outreach ministries. Johanna holds degrees in Economics and Management from institutions in England and Scotland, and was a licensed paramedic in Ontario. Johanna worked as a Clinical Research professional prior to pursuing her M.Div. Outside of work, Johanna enjoys photography, cooking, exercising, and playing the piano and various stringed instruments.
